

I enjoyed the Kolbe A™ Index test experience due to its instinctive basis. The results have helped confirm some things that I already knew about myself and validated others. They also lifted the lid on a few things I had previously only suspected to be true. This knowledge was clarified further with the follow up discussions between the test facilitator and myself.

The most useful thing I learned from the test is the ability to differentiate between others as people and methods of working with them.

I now have a very useful tool set that I can apply to evaluating new opportunities.
